Press Release – Apr 15, 2005

Neoxen Systems brings Process Improvement Solutions to Microsoft® Office® 2003

Neoxen Systems, a European software company developing process management solutions, has today released its process improvement product for the newest Microsoft Office version. The Neoxen Modus Lite release 3.1 is specifically targeted at software professionals using Microsoft platforms and productivity tools.

The Neoxen Modus product family is designed for software professionals who create and manage software development processes to gain efficiency and competitive edge. Easy-to-use templates and support packages help IT managers, developers, and software industry organizations control all aspects of software production processes more efficiently.

"Neoxen Modus Lite for Microsoft Office has helped us to speed up the development cycle of our mission critical solutions to hospitals and health centers as well as service flats, nursing homes and homes for the elderly", says Jari Kalpio, CTO at Miratel Oy. "The easy-to-adopt approach to process improvement and quality assurance together with the complete set of guided template libraries is a perfect match to our needs."

Esa Tervo, Chief Executive Officer at Neoxen Systems explains that, "The benefits of this new release include easy adoption, visually more consistent and self-explanatory structure, and of course very competitive pricing."

Neoxen Modus Lite for Microsoft Office is an essential part of Neoxen Systems solution offering for both commercial and in-house software development. There is considerable evidence in savings in process development costs with Neoxen Modus Lite."

Neoxen Modus Lite supports both rapid software development projects and continuous organizational process development. This flexibility makes Neoxen Modus Lite suitable for starting businesses and more established companies. Neoxen Modus Lite shares the common standards compliant methodology, which is the base for all Neoxen Modus Family products built on top of the Neoxen QX Framework technology.

Neoxen Modus Product Family is developed under official EUREKA status, which was granted in EUREKA Ministerial Conference on the 18th of June 2004 in Paris.

Neoxen® Modus Lite Release 3.1 is available directly from the Neoxen Web Store and from the well-equipped resellers.
